1] Concept of English Language Laboratory Training:

The use of effective communication is an outcome of the language labs. Proficiency is of course, the matter of constant practice, endeavor and effort. This is not an easy task as there has to be required immense practice for developing communication skills of engineering first year students in the district. In terms of global scenario "Engineering English" has been growing its prominence everywhere and the professional students of science and technology need to acquire these skills according to the global demands of the present century. The English language courses taught for engineering students in India are mostly knowledge based and not skill based. Most of the students lack effective communication skills. As a result, the engineers produced by such universities / colleges suffer largely when they wish to study in the world class institutions or work in a global atmosphere. The English Language Laboratory is a tool to enhance proficiency in English. The learners can reinforce certain areas in which they are facing problems like pronunciation, internalization of correct grammatical structures and comprehension. It has been observed that learners do not get exposure to listen to English language; though listening plays a vital role in acquiring any language. Therefore, they are unable to speak in English efficiently. It is felt that listening is the most neglected skill in learning English Language in India. Language laboratory comes for our help in this context. With the help of English language laboratory the learner can acquire all the four skills-Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing and then it will be possible to say that they have acquired the English Language in a true sense, not only learnt it.

Taking into consideration the importance of English Language Laboratory, following are the objectives of English Language Laboratory.

8] Suggestions for improvement:

- 1] After conducting the exam, grades should be given to the students as per their performance.
- 2] For interested students extra coaching should be arranged.
- 3] The session should be conducted for 2-3 days continuously instead of a weekly schedule.

Concept of English Language Laboratory Training

The use of effective communication is an outcome of the language laboratory.. Proficiency is of course, the matter of constant practice, endeavor and effort. This is not an easy task as there has to be required immense practice for developing communication skills of engineering first year students in the district. In terms of global scenario "Engineering English" has been growing its prominence everywhere and the professional students of science and technology need to acquire these skills according to the global demands of the present century. The English language courses taught for engineering students in India are mostly knowledge based and not skill based. Most of the students lack effective communication skills. As a result, the engineers produced by such universities / colleges suffer largely when they wish to study in the world class institutions or work in a global atmosphere.

The English Language Laboratory is a tool to enhance proficiency in English. The learners can reinforce certain areas in which they are facing problems like pronunciation, internalization of correct grammatical structures and comprehension. It has been observed that learners do not get exposure to listen to English language; though listening plays a vital role in acquiring any language. Therefore, they are unable to speak in English efficiently. It is felt that listening is the most neglected skill in learning English Language in India. Language laboratory comes for our help in this context. With the help of English language laboratory the learner can acquire all the four skills-Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing and then it will be possible to say that they have acquired the English Language in a true sense, not only learnt it.

Glimpses of English Language Laboratory Training:

Concept of English Language Laboratory Training

The use of effective communication is an outcome of the language laboratory.. Proficiency is of course, the matter of constant practice, endeavor and effort. This is not an easy task as there has to be required immense practice for developing communication skills of engineering first year students in the district. In terms of global scenario "Engineering English" has been growing its prominence everywhere and the professional students of science and technology need to acquire these skills according to the global demands of the present century. The English language courses taught for engineering students in India are mostly knowledge based and not skill based. Most of the students lack effective communication skills. As a result, the engineers produced by such universities / colleges suffer largely when they wish to study in the world class institutions or work in a global atmosphere.

The English Language Laboratory is a tool to enhance proficiency in English. The learners can reinforce certain areas in which they are facing problems like pronunciation, internalization of correct grammatical structures and comprehension. It has been observed that learners do not get exposure to listen to English language; though listening plays a vital role in acquiring any language. Therefore, they are unable to speak in English efficiently. It is felt that listening is the most neglected skill in learning English Language in India. Language laboratory comes for our help in this context. With the help of English language laboratory the learner can acquire all the four skills-Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing and then it will be possible to say that they have acquired the English Language in a true sense, not only learnt it.

As per the SIH schedule the first coding session was started at 9.35 am on the first day. All the Jury members have conducted session with each team individually and interacted with them based on their problem-statement. Evaluators who have been appointed by the government of Maharashtra and the government of India along with some industry experts, design experts from industries and some elementary experts mentored all these teams for 15-20 minutes and in that mentoring session they have asked the teams that what are their expectations from their projects. All the experts suggested them what are the expected outcome requirements of the problem statements assigned to team. They were being given the whole day for coding. The first round of evaluation was started at 7.00 pm in the evening on the same day. The evaluators have validated their projects and on the basis of their evaluation they have given further challenges to the teams just too fine tune their product. The changes or the expectations which evaluators have provided to the teams were very challenging and interesting as well. A very critical evaluation was carried out by all the judges and improvements in the project were suggested by them.

The teams were also fortunate to have the speech of Honorable Prime Minister Narendra Modi. All the teams were gathered at the auditorium and Narendra Modi's speech has been telecasted. All this has motivated all the teams to work throughout the night. Those all the teams had food in the evening and immediately after that they started coding again. All the teams coded the whole night to achieve their targets given by the jury members. The enthusiasm, intensity and the commitment of the teams towards these challenges were worth watching.

To provide a break from the extensive application of their logics and thoughts, recreational activities were conducted from 1-1.30 am. The students of DYPCOE performed beat boxing and sang a song and it was amazing to see the involvement of two more members from SIH teams Hrithik G- From TECHIQ Team and N.K. Vamsi Krishna- from 405 Found who joined them and all of them have created a beautiful musical environment through their amazing Jugalbandi of Beat Boxing. It was a magical moment for the late session of coding. It has boosted the energy level of the all the teams and student volunteer to a complete next level. Arrangements were also made for the teams to rest for some time to refresh themselves. But it was great to see that most of the teams continued the coding whole night to attain the objectives given by the juries.

In early morning on second day, Yoga session was conducted by the Yoga Trainer Mrs. Sonali Shalunke for the teams to rejuvenate from the overnight tiring sessions.

The second round of critical evaluation was started at 9 am where some extremely enlightening inputs were provided by the panels to the team members, like working prototype, comparison with global standards, sustainability etc. All the evaluators have judged their projects for some time and have some power mentoring sessions. At 12.00 pm there was round of mentoring by the evaluators and experts where the teams were provided a final chance to present their best. The final round of evaluation scheduled at 5.30 pm. Students has done all the modifications and all the changes in the project and just fine tune that product in the presentable manner. At five o'clock the coding stopped. Evaluation was carried out on the basis of novelty of the idea, complexity, clarity and details in the prescribed format, feasibility, practicability, sustainability, scale of impact, user experience and potential for future work progression etc. For every problem statement we were having three experts from that field and some design experts as well experts who have given them the idea. The team of evaluator has gone to their allotted teams as per their problem statement and have a rigorous review of teams output and after having around 90 minutes of evaluation, these evaluators have come together and with a lot of discussion and so many inputs they have identified winners from each problem statement. On the basis of this last evaluation cycle, the jury members finalized the winner of each problem statement who were provided with the prize money of 1 lack each.

Valedictory function was organized for honoring these winners at eight o'clock in the evening. The teams were also so much excited for this valedictory function because there whole efforts which they have taken in the last two days are going to have the result. So all the teams were sitting in Shantai hall an anxious mode and an exciting mode.

For this valedictory function we had Mr Gireendra Kasmalkar as chief guest and Mr Avinash Gupta as guest of honor. Principal Dr. Mrs. P Malthi, Vice Principal Dr. S. S.
